

July 1997

If you are searching the Internet, you might want to make special note of two new books in our collection. A short synopsis of both can be found below.

Basch, Reva. Secrets of the super Net searchers : the reflections, revelations, and hard-won wisdom of 35 of the world's top Internet researchers. Wilton, Conn : Pemberton Press, 1996. 384.3 B298

"The Super Internet Searchers - in their own words> Here for the first time is the collected wisdom of 35 of the world's leading Internet hunters and gatherers. Interviewed by top online search and cyber-journalist Reva Basch, these experts offer insights, anecdotes, tips, techniques, and case histories guaranteed to raise the "Searching IQ" of any serious Internet user."

Seltzer, Richard, Eric J. Ray and Deborah S. Ray. AltaVista search revolution: how to find anything on the internet. Berkley: McGraw-Hill, 1997. 384.3S 468

"With all the inside information and practical advice found in this book, you will see - perhaps for the first time - the full potential of the Internet to reinvent the way you work and play. Whether you are a complete novice, an experienced Web surfer, or even if you're already working with AltaVista search, this book shows you how best to use this incredible tool to make your searches more effective and fruitful."

MASS MEDIA AND TECHNOLOGY

The Convergence

The Convergence magazine is an electronic venture from Competitor Communications Inc. and Torstar Electronic Publishing. "Convergence refers to the converging of all media, new and old," says magazine publisher K.K. Campbell, Competitor Communications president and the Toronto Star's Internet columnist. "The day when all media -- books, movies, newspapers, music -- can be delivered down the same pipe. The Internet is a precursor to that." The Convergence magazine will, thus, focus on the socio-economic aspects of the Internet and new media, a social barometer of technology. Campbell says "The Convergence will give Canadians across the country a place to read about what effects the Net and new media has on everyday society -- as well as practical reviews of new products and their value to their lives." The Convergence is distinctly Canadian, yet the subjects it embraces are global." The Convergence will offer daily items covering industry news and product releases.

Urban Legends Archive

"An urban legend appears mysteriously and spreads spontaneously in varying forms contains elements of humor or horror (the horror often "punishes" someone who flouts society's conventions). It makes good storytelling, does NOT have to be false, although most are. ULs often have a basis in fact, but it's their life after-the-fact (particularly in reference to the second and third points) that gives them particular interest." Peter van der Linden
